Nuance’s Dragon Speaking

Laura Baertschi will be talking about the benefits of Nuance’s Dragon Speaking voice-to-data conversion products. She will demonstrate the ease of using the product in speaking directly to Word and other Microsoft Office products as well as controlling Windows and email, all with your voice.

Bring your imagination and thoughts on how you may better interface with your personal computer processes with voice control.

SEVERAL WORKSHOP TITLES HAVE CHANGED

George Hauss’s new workshop, originally called Microsoft Office Tips and Tricks, has been renamed to MS Office. George will present his excellent repertoire that pertains to all MS products: Word, Excel, Access, PowerPoint, and Publisher.

George Hammer has renamed his Web Design workshop to All Things Web. His first presentation under the new title included an excellent discussion of Bitcoin. Attendees were intrigued and learned a great deal about this black market currency.

Calendar these workshops. They are good!
